Women's Studio Workshop (WSW) works with at-risk youth in Hands-On Art, an art-in-education program based on experiential learning. ARTFarm, the ecological component, introduces students to the ancient art of making paper by hand using renewable plant resources grown at WSW. Hands-On Art supports students of all academic abilities to work in multiple full days in WSW's studios. Local artists serve as teachers, role models & mentors, working with at-risk youth of Kingston City School District.
